$6.0bn

estimated cost of confirmed tank losses

 Considering Ukrainian reports, it is plausible to suggest that the total cost of Russian tank losses may be up to $13.7 billion.

75

tank batalions losses

 Judging by the organic composition of a Russian tank battalion, from the beginning of the invasion until now, the Russian army has lost (visually confirmed) approximately 75 tank battalions, of which 18 have been captured by the Ukrainians.

 Different tank factories such as Uralvagonzavod, Omsktransmash, and various upgrade workshops, working together, could deliver 90 tanks per month. This would mean, judging by visually confirmed losses, that the tanks lost in Ukraine could be rebuilt within two years. However, considering the figures reported by Ukrainians, the reconstruction of these tanks could take up to five years.
